

DEBRECENI SZEMLE

Quarterly of the Scientific Communities of Debrecen and the Region

VOL. XVII. No. 3-4.

NEW ISSUE

2009. JULY-OCTOBER

CONTENTS

ARTICLES

- István Lovas*: An insight to the world of elementary particles 285
- András Lipták*: Antal Péczely, glass-technician: the master and artist of the indispensable tools of scientific research 296
- Noémi Czeglédi*: Justice by word and “debt-management” in a Reform-age household 303
- Katalin Forray R.– Tamás Kozma*: Hungry for a degree. Adult students in Debrecen and Pécs 315
- József N. Szabó*: Hungarian-Austrian cultural and scientific relations after WWII (1945-1948) 329

CALVIN REMEMBERED

- János Csohány*: Calvin’s line of life 343
- Botond Gaál*: Calvin, as the reformer of religious theories 353
- Béla Levente Baráth– Adrienn Orosz*: The Calvinian theory of Presbyterian governance in Hungary 363
- Károly Fekete*: The simplicity of church service in Calvinist churches 374
- Gábor Nagy*: New world perspective – Calvinist influences 382
- Botond Gaál*: Calvin and European scientific philosophy 391

OUR DEPARTMENTS

- Rezső Gáspár*: The bio-physical and cell-biological department of the Medical and Health Science Center of the University of Debrecen 400
- Eszter Láng*: The history of the World Economy and International Relations Department 405
- Imre Papp*: Education and research in the Department of History of the University of Debrecen 411

NOTES

- László Muszbek*: The activity of Kálmán Laki – serving medical training in Debrecen 420
- János Eisler*: The Art of Vilmos Aba-Novák – the Debrecen exhibition 424

CONTENTS 485

Gábor Merényi-Metzger: The birth data of general József Nagysándor 433
János Rácz: When everything came together. Only historians can reveal the differences? 437

BOOK REVIEWS 443

THE NEWS OF SCIENTIFIC LIFE 468

CALL FOR PROPOSALS AT THE DEBRECEN ACADEMIC COMMITTEE 479

THE CONTENT OF THE XVII. VOLUME OF THE DEBRECENI SZEMLE 486